

Helpful Words (including Letters and Sounds tricky words)

Some common or high-frequency words which are useful for early reading and writing include letter/s-sound correspondences that are unusual or simply have not yet been taught through the phonics programme. These helpful words can be given extra attention and the unusual part pointed out.

On Floppy's Phonics Online you will find printable versions of helpful words, organised by Oxford Level. These include the tricky words listed in Phases Two to Five of the Department for Education's framework, Letters and Sounds, which are also given below.

Print off the helpful words when they are needed according to their inclusion in any Floppy's Phonics Cumulative Texts and the captions, sentences, poems and texts in the back of the Floppy's Phonics Sounds Books. They will also be useful for any incidental teaching and wider reading and writing in the curriculum. You can use the Book-by-Book plans for reference. Practise reading and writing the words separately and in sentences and they will soon become familiar. In addition, display the Floppy's Phonics Helpful Words Poster in your classroom for ready-reference.

Letters and Sounds High-Frequency Tricky Words Phases Two to Five

Phase Two

the
to
I
no
go into

Phase Three

he she we
me
be
was
you
they
all
are my her

Phase Four

said
have like
so
do
some come
were there
little one
when
out
what

Phase Five

oh
their people
Mr
Mrs
looked called asked
could

be

are

my

sister

too

why

sky

again

look